NATURE

I get inspiration from the landscape that contains plenty of colours and shades. There might be a cloudy or rainy sky, but still with a little bit of sun, every stone and clump of grass starts to look like a magical object.

SPAIN

The sun gives plenty of positive energy and colours are more vivid. The Sea, the sand and all plants, they all look like taken from a dream.

ISLAND

The tree in the middle is like a creation of black ink that comes out from the inside of the island which then changes into many vivid colours. Those two different environments are bringing a completely new quality. It's like giving and finding harmony achieved by mixing those two different worlds. Two forces that have an influence on each other. Showing nature was the best choice because of its unpredictability but still very organised way of existing. To have a proper perspective I used a 3D model.
